Serving Refugees & Immigrants with WIOA: Key Strategies and Practices

Aligning WIOA and Refugee & Immigrant Clients: Build the Foundation

- Identify who within your WDB team is going to drive and champion this work
- Landscape analysis – resettlement agencies and other organizations serving the target population
- Information gathering – your County Refugee Coordinator and/or local immigrant collaborative(s) are a great start
- Host an initial meeting and remember to:
 - Prioritize listening and learning
 - Take the time to explain the basics about your programs, services, eligibility, limitations, and performance goals
 - Decide on a plan for next steps so you don't lose momentum
- Regular (monthly or quarterly) meetings with relevant stakeholders are important to making progress and will provide a space to solicit feedback on timely and emerging challenges and opportunities

Culturally and Linguistically Accessible On-Ramps

DO

- Ensure that your web presence and outreach materials are available in relevant languages
- Hire Career Navigation staff that bring key language and cultural skills
- Make sure that AJC staff know how to access interpretation, are encouraged to do so, and have been trained on how to serve a customer while using an interpreter
- Allow these customers to have a navigator/other support to help them through the process of getting connected to services and continue to communicate with that navigator
- Collaborate with refugee and immigrant-serving organizations to co-develop proposals that offer intentional, responsive service delivery models and career pathways that work for the target population

DON'T

- Assume that doing “business as usual” will result in these customers walking in your door
- Have complex, online-only registration and eligibility procedures that customers must complete independently before even being considered to receive services
- Tell refugee-serving organizations to simply “make more referrals”
- Assume that as long as you provide accessibility in Spanish, you should be fine
- Refer all ELL individuals to ESL classes and assume eventually, they will find their way back

Braiding Together ORR-Employment Services & WIOA

- Consider sequencing– core ORR employment services focus on the first months post-arrival
- ORR RES funds can and do support vocational ESL services – consider opportunities to integrate this work with industry or sector specific initiatives in the region
- WIOA has significantly more access to training funds than ORR employment funds so consider co-enrollment to open the door to occupational skills training + individual employment coaching and supportive services
- ORR discretionary grants – including Career Pathways and Employer Engagement – offer special opportunities to collaborate on key program models and partnerships

WIOA Training Funds

- Collaborating on training funds is a great best practice
- Review the processes, timeline, and requirements you have in place for customers to access ITA funds and pay attention to common pain points:
 - “Policy” that accessing training funds requires a HS diploma/GED and/or specific level of English
 - Opaque timelines and/or waitlist processes
 - Title I Career Navigation Services eligibility/enrollment bottlenecks
- Consider opportunities for prioritization, either within or outside of a specific project or initiative
- Keep lines of communication open with refugee-serving partners and remember, expending these funds on immigrant customers is usually a win-win for organizations, clients, and even performance metrics!

DIGITAL EQUITY WORK

Digital Needs Assessment

Goals of this tool:

- Create a standard process and coordination to assess the digital needs of participants.
- Ongoing analysis of the digital needs of participants.
- Target funding to support access to devices, the internet, digital skills training and other resources needed by community members.

The screenshot shows a webpage header with a teal background. In the top right corner, there is a language selection menu showing "English (United States)" with a dropdown arrow. The main header features the logo of the Workforce Development Council of Seattle - King County, which consists of a stylized white arrow pointing up and to the right, followed by the text "WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL OF SEATTLE - KING COUNTY" in white. Below the logo, the title "DIGITAL NEEDS ASSESSMENT" is displayed in large, bold, yellow letters with a thin yellow underline. The main content area is white and contains the following text: "The purpose of the Digital Needs Assessment is to assess the digital needs of job seekers in our region and provide targeted resources and funding to help close the digital divide." Below this is a section titled "DEFINITIONS" in bold, underlined black text. It includes three definitions: "Digital Divide: the gap between individuals who have access to computers, high-speed internet and the skills to use them, and those who do not (National League of Cities)", "Digital Equity: condition in which all individuals and communities have the information technology capacity needed for full participation in our society, democracy and economy. Digital equity is necessary for civic and cultural participation, employment, lifelong learning and access to essential services (National Digital Inclusion Alliance)", and "Digital Literacy: is the ability to use information and communication technologies to find, evaluate, create, and communicate information, requiring both cognitive and technical skills (ALA's Digital Literacy Task Force)".

DEFINITIONS

Digital Divide: the gap between individuals who have access to computers, high-speed internet and the skills to use them, and those who do not (National League of Cities)

Digital Equity: condition in which all individuals and communities have the information technology capacity needed for full participation in our society, democracy and economy. Digital equity is necessary for civic and cultural participation, employment, lifelong learning and access to essential services (National Digital Inclusion Alliance)

Digital Literacy: is the ability to use information and communication technologies to find, evaluate, create, and communicate information, requiring both cognitive and technical skills (ALA's Digital Literacy Task Force)

DIGITAL EQUITY WORK

Digital Equity Survey

Goals of the survey

- Understand and assess the digital needs in our region
- Help develop digital equity recommendations
- Inform policymakers about needed workforce investments

Workforce Development Digital Equity Survey

Access to reliable, high-speed internet, a computer, and digital skills are basic necessities needed to pursue education, employment, and economic mobility. This survey is part of a collective effort among all 12 local workforce development boards to identify and understand the digital skill needs in our regions. The results will help develop recommendations, and inform policymakers about needed workforce investments that incorporate digital equity goals.

Definitions (From the National Digital Inclusion Alliance)

Digital Equity: is a condition in which all individuals and communities have the information technology capacity needed for full participation in our society, democracy, and economy. Digital equity is necessary for civic and cultural participation, employment, lifelong learning, and access to essential services.

It is important to note here the use of "equity" vs. "equality." When we use the word equity, we accurately acknowledge the systemic barriers that must be dismantled before achieving equality for all.

Digital Literacy: Digital Literacy is the ability to use information and communication technologies to find, evaluate, create, and communicate information, requiring both cognitive and technical skills.
